

ANTI-BONUS LEAGUE SEEKING 10,000 MEN

Meet To-morrow Night, Will Plan War on Gratuities to Able Bodied.

LEGION FAILURE SCORED

Attitude of Congress Subject of Grave Concern to Taxpayers.

Plans for a drive to recruit 10,000 members before January 1 for the Ex-Servicemen's Anti-Bonus League, which has been incorporated and opened offices at 47 West Forty-second street, are to be made at a meeting to-morrow night in the Hotel Commodore. All ex-service men who are against the payment of gratuities to able-bodied soldiers and sailors are invited. The organization was formed to oppose any Government grant, now or at any future time, to any ex-service man who is physically and mentally unimpaired as a result of his war service and to work for immediate and generous legislation for the proper care, pensioning and respect for every veteran who is or may become physically or mentally impaired as a result of his service.

The trustees of the league are C. Curdie Main, Jr.; Charles M. Muller and Edward L. Allen, all of whom saw service in France as private soldiers.

"We had hoped that the American Legion at its convention in New Orleans would make a stand on the bonus which would make unnecessary the work of this league, but the American Legion has missed a great opportunity," said Allen yesterday. "It is the firm belief of the membership of this league that the fight for a blanket bonus for all ex-service men, so persistently waged during the last three years, is the reason for Congress' lamentable failure to provide for the proper care and pensioning of the injured and disabled veterans as a class. It seems that any worthwhile measure for the wounded and disabled never could get very far without being dodged with some provision for the able-bodied as well."

"The fact that a large majority of the members of both houses of Congress are strongly in favor of such legislation and failed to pass the bonus bill over the President's veto by the slight margin of but four votes in the Senate, and the further fact that the interests behind the measure have declared openly that the fight for the bonus is just begun, make it evident that unless forceful and effective opposition is presented at once 'adjuster compensation' will meet with success in the next Congress or one of its early successors.

"In this event, not only would a tremendous burden of taxation be imposed upon the American people, a large part of which would have to be borne by the veterans themselves, but the far more unfortunate condition would result that under the provisions of the measure the men who should get real and substantial help—those who were in any way slightly injured—would get but a small fraction of their just due."

"Our organization is not a political one, and no party, platform or candidate will ever be endorsed by this league."

PICKETING OF BERWIN HOME REQUIRES PERMIT

Police Get Striking Miners to Desist by Explanation.

Picketing of the E. J. Berwind home at 2 East Sixty-fourth street was peacefully deferred yesterday by striking miners of the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company when police of the East Sixty-seventh street station explained a permit was required.

Picketing in front of the Berwind-White offices at 11 Broadway was begun last Monday as a protest against Mr. Berwind's alleged refusal to settle the strike on the basis of a closed shop. The demonstration was later extended to his residence.

A meeting of the strikers will be held at the Engineering Societies Building.

DOCTOR'S MISSING PIN IN PATIENT'S HAIR NET

While He Is Seeking Diamond
She Telephones of Find.

Dr. Charles R. Johnston of Peekskill missed a $100 diamond stick pin from his cravat Friday when at work in his office. After he had made a vain search for it Mrs. Charles P. Cole of Carmel, a patient, called him on the telephone and advised that she had found such a pin in her hair net.

She had just left the physician's office after treatment and presumed the pin had dropped from his cravat and lodged in the hair net when he was attending her for deafness. The pin was sent to Dr. Johnston's office and he identified it.
